SUBJECT: Proposed COMAR 13A.04.07 Gifted and Talented Education

PERMSSION TO PUBLISH

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this item is to propose new regulations for Gifted and Talented Education that are aligned with the Maryland Annotated Code's definition of gifted and talented students and the Bridge to Excellence legislation which identifies gifted and talented students as a specific student group in the Master Plan.

BACKGROUND/HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE:

Our current reform plan as described in our Race to the Top application calls for dramatic shifts in instructional delivery to meet the needs of all students, including students with disabilities, English Language Learners, and gifted and talented students. Our focus is no longer on proficiency, but on expanding the percentages of students that score at advanced levels.

The Bridge to Excellence legislation recognizes gifted and talented students as a specific student group and requires that school systems report in their Master Plans, "goals, objectives and strategies regarding the performance of gifted and talented students" as defined in the Maryland Annotated Code.

The current lack of gifted and talented education program regulations is both an equity and a compliance issue. The gifted and talented student population is the only specific student group in Bridge to Excellence that does not have program regulations to guide local school systems in developing and implementing effective programs.

The process to develop these regulations began in 2006 and has proceeded slowly and carefully in order to design minimum standards that are achievable for all school districts. Many districts now meet or exceed the minimum standards. The process has included feedback from multiple stakeholder groups including Superintendents, Assistant Superintendents, and the Maryland State Advisory Council for Gifted and Talented Education.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:

The proposed COMAR for Gifted and Talented Education provides the minimum standards necessary to design and implement effective programs and services to support this special population. The regulation is flexible and does not dictate details. The COMAR is modeled on national standards applied to the specific context in Maryland. Reporting continues to be through the established Master Plan process. The regulation is aligned with COMAR 13A.12.03.12 Gifted and Talented Education Specialist certification, which was adopted by the Board in 2009.

ACTION:

Grant permission to publish COMAR 13A.04.07 Gifted and Talented Education.
