TO: Members of the Maryland State Board of Education
FROM: Lillian M. Lowery, Ed.D. L. Lowery
DATE: July 24, 2012
SUBJECT: Persistently Dangerous and Probationary Status Schools

PURPOSE:

To request that the Maryland State Board of Education (MSBE) take the following actions under the provisions of Code of Maryland Regulation (COMAR) 13A.08.01.18 Definitions for Regulations .19-.20, 13A.08.01.19 Probationary and Persistently Dangerous School Designation, and 13A.08.01.20 Unsafe School Transfer Policy (ATTACHMENT I).

- Retain the persistently dangerous school (PDS) designation for two schools in the Baltimore City Public School System (BCPSS);
- Designate two additional school in the BCPSS as persistently dangerous;
- Place four schools in the BCPSS on probationary status; and
- Remove the persistently dangerous designation from one school in the BCPSS due to its closure by the BCPSS.

BACKGROUND/HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE:

Title IX of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 requires each state receiving funds under the Act to establish and implement a statewide policy that allows a student attending a persistently dangerous school to attend a safe school within the local school system in which the student is enrolled. In 2003, the MSBE adopted COMAR 13A.08.01.18-.20 to meet this requirement.

While NCLB requires states to identify persistently dangerous schools, it allows states to establish the parameters for this identification. These parameters vary from state to state. Other states have established parameters such that no schools have actually been identified as PDS. The Maryland State Board, however, intended to implement the law with rigor so that this issue could get the attention it deserves.

The regulation defines a persistently dangerous school as a school in which each year, for three consecutive school years, the total number of student suspensions and/or expulsions for more than ten days for any of the following offenses equals 2½ percent or more of the total number of students enrolled in the school: arson or fire; drugs; explosives; firearms; other guns; other weapons; physical attack on a student; physical attack on a school system employee or other adult; and sexual assault.

Furthermore, the regulation requires the MSBE to place on probationary status any school that meets the 2½ percent criteria for two consecutive school years.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:

At the end of school year (SY) 2010-11, the MSBE designated three BCPSS schools as persistently dangerous. An analysis of the SY 2011-12 discipline data, submitted by the BCPSS (ATTACHMENT II), revealed that Garrison Middle School and Baltimore Rising Star Academy continued to meet the 2½ percent criteria. Thus, these schools retained the persistently dangerous designation.

At the end of SY 2010-11, the MSBE placed three BCPSS schools on probationary status (ATTACHMENT III). One school, Chinquapin Middle School was closed prior to SY 2010-2011 by the BCPSS which resulted in removal from probationary status.

At the end of SY 2010-11, ten BCPSS schools met the 2½ percent criteria set forth in the regulation for one school year. These schools were placed on a Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) "Watch List." BCPSS was notified and requested to provide the SY 2011-12 discipline data for these schools to MSDE by June 18, 2012. An analysis of the SY 2011-12 discipline data, submitted by the BCPSS, revealed that Augusta Fells Savage Institute of Visual Arts, Benjamin Franklin High School @ Masonville Cove, Steuart Hill Academy, and William C. March Middle School met the 2½ percent criteria for the second consecutive school year. Thus, these schools should be placed on probationary status.

ACTION:

Recommend that the MSBE take the following actions:

- Retain the persistently dangerous school designation for Garrison Middle School and Baltimore Rising Star Academy;
- Designate Baltimore Civitas and Maritime Industries Academy as persistently dangerous;
- Remove Institute of Business and Entrepreneurship from persistently dangerous designation due to closure by the BCPSS; and
- Place Augusta Fells Savage Institute of Visual Arts, Benjamin Franklin High School @ Masonville Cove, Steuart Hill Academic Academy, and William C. March Middle School on probationary status.
